

Health, Safety & Environment Policy

Inxpect is an innovative company operating in the field of radar-based electronic sensors. It was founded in December 2015 with the aim of designing and producing a new generation of devices that use radar technology in non-traditional application domains such as anti-intrusion security, industrial safety and robotics.

Belief

In this highly competitive market, the Board of Directors is aware that upholding sustainable economic concepts and reconciling product quality and service is essential. We believe injury prevention and environmental impact minimisation are as important as manufacturing products.

Inxpect aims to achieve the highest Health, Safety and Environment standards, incorporating sustainable development principles throughout its business.

The safeguarding and well-being of the people who work in and with Inxpect are our number one priorities.

Inxpect identifies the Health and Safety of its employees, contractors, visitors and the protection of the environment as integrated drivers of its activities and therefore commits to convey this concept to its stakeholders.

Principles

Inxpect commits to putting the following principles at the core of its daily concerns:

- To train all its employees in the appropriate use of Health, Safety and Environment management systems.
- Encourage the consultation and participation of employees in Health, Safety and Environment-related issues.
- To empower all employees through responsible behaviour and following suitable procedures.
- Provide and maintain safe plants and equipment.
- Identify, assess and eliminate risks and hazards at the source.
- Develop and convey environmental awareness towards its suppliers' manufacturing process.
- All injuries and work-related illnesses can and must be prevented.
- Communicate to everyone our commitment to improving our performance.
- Continuously improve the effectiveness of its management system through context verification and a careful approach to risk analysis.
- Observe the local legislation in force and comply with the policies and standards established in the Company Regulation.

Inxpect undertakes to keep the policy updated, implement and maintain its management system and continuously improve its Health, Safety and Environment performance.

Brescia, August 13, 2022

Luca Salgarelli
Chairman of the Board of Directors

